Dear Sharon

Six months ago I was very impressed to read about Jo Jingles in the Belfast Telegraph and to learn that you would be starting classes, here in Northern Ireland, in September. Since then it has been a great pleasure to take my little son Andrew along week by week.

At the beginning I was so impressed by your organisational skills and your ability to remember all those little ones names by the end of only one session. However, it was your energy and your total enthusiasm for what you were doing which impressed me most.

Over the months I have seen my son's confidence and enjoyment flourish. His coordination when playing the instruments has improved beyond recognition. The themes of each session hold his attention and interest because they are so appropriately selected for his age and stage. You encouraged his wavering efforts at the beginning and this has paid dividends in the long run.

Although music, movement and song may be at the core of what is done in each session, I so appreciate the holistic approach which Jo Jingles offers. Virtually every aspect of a child's development is catered for.

My husband and I deeply appreciate all that has been done for Andrew. Your sensitivity and care of him, as an individual, means so much to us.

Yours sincerely,

Jillian M Barnes (Mrs)
